Your body needs adequate energy and nutrition to heal during your cancer treatment and recovery. During treatment your appetite may be low or it may be hard to eat solid foods. Liquids can be an easy way to get the nutrition that your body needs.

Try making any of the following smoothies, hot drinks, or blended meals.

Do I need to use protein powder?

If you do not eat enough protein rich foods (such as meat, poultry, seafood, eggs, nuts/seeds, legumes [beans, peas and lentils] or dairy products), you may benefit from using a protein powder as an easy way to meet your protein needs. You can add protein powders to most liquids such as milkshakes, smoothies, yogurt, pudding, soup and hot cereal.

How do I choose a protein powder?

There are two main types of protein powders: dairy-based or plant-based. What you choose will depend on your taste, preference, tolerance and cost.

- Choose a protein powder that tastes good to you. If you enjoy the taste, you are more likely to use it.
- Choose a powder with few added ingredients such as flavours, sweeteners, and extracts.
- Some protein powders contain added vitamins, minerals, and herbal products. Discuss with your dietitian or pharmacist whether these types of powders are right for you during treatment.

Try adding any of these foods to your favorite smoothies, hot drinks, or blended meals for extra calories, protein and other nutrients!

Practical Tips

- If you have a sore mouth avoid fruits that contain small seeds (such as berries) and fruits or juices that are acidic (oranges, pineapple, lemon, etc), and do not add whole nuts or seeds. Ground flax seeds, hemp hearts and nut butters may be better tolerated.
- Try freezing the cold drinks into Popsicle molds.
- Smoothies can separate after 30 minutes. If you cannot finish the drink right away, then you can:
  - re-blend it when you want to finish it later.
  - Refrigerate or freeze the drink. Note that it will expand when frozen, so make sure you leave enough room in the container.
- If fibre is a concern for you, refer to the BC Cancer Dietary Fibre Content of Common Foods and Low Fibre Food Choices handouts for more information. These are on the BC Cancer website (www.bccancer.bc.ca).

Food Safety

- Do not use raw eggs.
- Wash all fruit and vegetables well before using.
- Make sure all equipment and utensils are clean prior to use.
- Store leftovers in the fridge and use within 24 hours or freeze for later use.

Blending Tips

- Start with a basic blender that can crush ice or frozen items well. Depending on use, you may want to invest in a more “heavy duty” or high powered blender. A hand held blender, immersion blender or food processor may also meet your needs.
- Put liquids in blender before solids.
- Cut food into bite size pieces before blending.
- When blending meat, poultry, fish, and grains, cook the food in liquids such as broth, gravy, cream soup and sauces to help soften them before blending.
- Blend a small amount of food at a time (ie. 1 cup). Too much food in the blender will not mix properly.
- Add enough liquid when blending.
- Add more liquid or solids to achieve the correct texture for you.
- Ensure the lid fits securely on the blender.
- Blend at low speed for 30 seconds to chop the solids and then increase to high speed for an extra 30 seconds to mix the ingredients until smooth.

Coconut, Butternut Squash & Ginger Soup

Ingredients:
- 1 butternut squash, halved and deseeded
- Olive oil
- 1 onion, diced
- 1 leek, diced
- 1 stalk celery, diced
- 1 medium carrot, diced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tbsp ginger, grated
- 1 tsp curry powder
- 1/8 tsp turmeric
- 1L broth
- ½ cup red lentils
- 1 14oz can full fat coconut milk

Instructions:
- Preheat oven to 350F.
- Lightly grease the butternut squash halves with olive oil. Place the squash halves face down on a baking sheet and bake until tender (approximately 30 minutes).
- In a medium sized pot, heat one tbsp olive oil with the onion, leek, celery, carrot, garlic, ginger, curry powder and turmeric on medium heat. Cook for 5-10 minutes or until the vegetables are soft, stirring regularly.
- Add broth. Bring to a simmer.
- Add lentils. Simmer for 15 minutes, stirring regularly.
- Once the squash is cooked, scoop the flesh out. Mix into the soup.
- Using a hand blender, blitz the soup into a puree or other desired consistency.
- Stir in the coconut milk.

Makes 10 cups.
Optional: Top with 33% cream, nuts, or seeds.
